NOTES

25X1

France: (A high union official thinks a compromise settlement of the coal strike may be possible on the basis of an 8-percent wage increase instead of the 11 percent demanded by the miners. However, the miners themselves, rather than top union leaders, are "calling the tune," and it is uncertain what their attitude would be toward a specific government offer. The government probably will take no action until a special committee report on the national wage picture is released in the next few days.)

Togo: Provisional President Grunitsky's position has been strengthened by several recent developments. Important elements of assassinated President Olympio's Unity Party have endorsed Grunitsky's terms for single-list elections. Last week, the 13 moderate French-speaking states comprising the Afro-Malagasy Union reportedly gave President Maga of Dahomey a wide mandate to support Grunitsky on their behalf, and France recently assured Grunitsky of its military backing.
